W Truliant Federal Credit Union has issued more than $28,000 in "mini-grants" to nonprofits in the Carolinas and Virginia in its latest round of funding, according to an announcement.

About 130 agencies applied for the grants, and 29 were chosen to receive up to $1,000 each, the Winston-

Salem-based nonprofit financial institution said. Funded services were targeted in the areas of health and human services, youth, affordable housing, financial literacy or economic development.

Among Triad-area recipients of mini-grants this year are the Latino Coalition of Randolph County, Boys and Girls Clubs of Greater High Point, the S.G. Atkins Community Development Corp. in Winston-Salem and the Smith-Graves Training Institute in Greensboro.

Truliant's grant cycle begins in May of each year.
